TOSSUP 2

The American authority on measurements and standards has declared this measurement obsolete, due to the fact that volume measurements are less precise than mass measurements. Despite this, it is still a more commonly used measurement than formal, volume-volume percentage, or normality. FTP, name this measure of concentration, defined as moles per liter of solution, and with symbol M.

Molarity

BONUS 2

FTPE, give the molarity of the following solutions. You will have 10 seconds per part.

- 10: 248 grams of nitrate ion in 4 liters of water. The molecular mass of nitrate is 62.

1 molar (moles per liter)

- 10: 207 grams of sodium ion in 3 liters of water. The atomic mass of sodium is 23.

3 molar

- 10: 1278 grams of chlorine in 2 liters of water. The atomic mass of chlorine is 35.5.
9 molar

TOSSUP 3

In short games like tic-tac-toe, the result can be known from the start if both players play perfectly. In most interesting games, however, the full game tree cannot be expanded, and AI players use techniques such as alpha-beta pruning to increase the number of states that can be checked in advance. FTP, identify this strategy in game theory in which each player assumes optimal play on the part of their opponent, and attempts to secure the best possible outcome.

Minimax

BONUS 3

Identify these related concepts from game theory FTPE.

- 10: In this classic two-player game, cooperation brings reward to both players, but a higher reward is on offer for the player that defects. If both players defect, both lose.

The Prisoner's Dilemma

- 10: When playing the Prisoner's game repeatedly, using this strategy, where you make the move your opponent just made, is optimal.

Tit for tat

- 10: When playing once, defecting is the optimal strategy, because any change in strategy could be worse for you, a state of affairs known as this.

Nash equilibrium (Prompt on equilibrium)

TOSSUP 4

He is a minor character in Pynchon's "Gravity's Rainbow", and Carlos Santana claims that he visits him during meditations and has a white beard. There are no references to him in the Old or New Testaments, or in any Islamic source, but the Talmud says that when Elisha entered Paradise he saw this angel sitting down. However, he is better known for appearing to abortion clinic worker Bethany and telling her that she is the last living relative of Jesus. FTP, name this angel, the voice of God, played by Alan Rickman in "Dogma".

Pencil and paper ready. Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are flipping coins and they want to know the probability of flipping tails at least once over the course of 5 flips. They realize that all they have to do is subtract the probability of flipping heads five times from one. FTP, what is the probability of getting at least one tails in five flips?

$$\frac{31}{32}$$

BONUS 5

Rosencrantz and Guildenstern fail to flip tails, of course, but you might have a shot. FTPE:

- 10: What is the probability of flipping tails twice in a row?
 $\frac{1}{4}$

- 10: What is the probability of flipping tails at least twice in five throws?
 $\frac{15}{16}$

- 10: What is the probability of flipping tails exactly 3 times out of 4 flips?
 $\frac{1}{4}$

TOSSUP 6

Created on the banks of the Vitava with the power of a secret ritual, it originally is benign and helpful to the Jews of the ghetto, fetching water and running errands.
